

214 + 0 South Ave SE

Atlanta, GA 30315 · Summerhill

$649,000 — both parcels, one closing, delivered vacant.

A three-bedroom house that has helped pay for itself for fifteen years, and the corner parcel beside it that most people mistake for a side yard. You can live in it. You can rent rooms in it. You can build on the lot, subject to what follows. You can do all three.

1. Summary

Item	Detail
Address	214 South Ave SE + 0 South Ave SE, Atlanta GA 30315
Parcels	14 -0054-0009-010-6 (Acct 1022835) · 14 -0054-0009-011-4 (Acct 1022843)
Note on address	0 South Ave SE appears in City of Atlanta records as 212 South Avenue SE
Lot sizes	3,107 SF improved + 3,016 SF vacant = ~6,123 SF combined
Zoning	R-4B-C conditional (rezoning case R449) — both parcels
House	~1,800 SF, 3 BR / 2.5 BA, built 2005, corner lot
Deck	1,100 SF, built 2011, reinforced joists
Delivery	Vacant at closing. All current agreements expire August 25, 2026.
Terms	Both parcels convey together and close as one transaction.

Seller is completing a 1031 exchange. No part of the transaction can be structured as a credit or payment to the buyer. Price is the lever; concessions are not.

2. What You'll See When You Walk Through

This is a lived-in house, not a staged one. Here is what needs work, before you drive over.

- Carpets need replacing throughout
- Kitchen cabinets need refinishing
- Several deck boards are soft; railings need attention
- Exterior stairs need repair or replacement
- One bathroom needs work

All of it is reflected in the asking price.

What you will also see: a clean, safe, functioning house. New dual HVAC with heat pump. An 1,100 SF deck with reinforced joists. A driveway updated in 2023 that fits two cars. Smart water shutoff, Nest thermostats, hardwired cameras. Three bedrooms that have housed working professionals continuously for years.

Seller will remove carpet prior to closing at buyer's request, at no cost. This is a condition of sale, not a credit.

PENDING — Written contractor scope covering the items above.

Zoning and development potential — please read

0 South Ave SE is a corner parcel, subject to setbacks on two street frontages rather than one. An architect who has built on this street calculates the as-of-right buildable envelope at roughly 11 ft x 90 ft — based on a 20 ft front setback, a 10 ft half-depth front on the Connally frontage, and 5 ft interior side and rear. That envelope is too narrow for a conventional single-family structure without a variance.

I am not marketing this parcel as buildable as-of-right until the City confirms it in writing. A Zoning Verification Letter has been requested from the Office of Zoning & Development (record PLN-ONLINE-26-001614) to establish the applicable setbacks, whether the parcel is a legal lot of record, and whether a variance would be required.

Two paths a buyer should evaluate:

VARIANCE — local precedent exists and is specific. See Section 5.

CONSOLIDATION — City staff indicated administrative lot combination with 214 South Ave SE may be possible, creating roughly 52 ft of frontage on a single parcel. Under the current City ordinance an accessory dwelling unit is permitted in R-4B on a lot with a single-family home, up to 1,000 SF and 24 ft in height, with 4 ft side and rear setbacks. Consolidating first may open a path the separate parcel does not.

Both paths are subject to City review and neither is guaranteed. Buyers must independently verify all zoning, setback, and development parameters with the City of Atlanta Office of Zoning & Development. No representation is made that the parcel is buildable as-of-right.

PENDING — Zoning Verification Letter — requested. Will be added on receipt.

PENDING — Plat or survey for both parcels. Lot dimensions above derive from County GIS geometry.

5. Variance Precedent in This Block

A variance is permission from the City to build something that does not quite fit the zoning rules — usually a setback that is a few feet too tight. You apply, the Board of Zoning Adjustment hears it, and they approve, approve with conditions, or deny. It costs money, it takes months, and it is not a formality.

Rather than assert that it should be fine, here is the record. These are public City of Atlanta cases on the two streets closest to this property.

Case	Date	Address	Status	Relief granted
V-25-104	Apr 2025	140 South Ave SE	Approved	Front 20 ft to 15 ft; east side to 6 in; west side to 3 ft
V-21-036	Jan 2021	143 Little St SE	Completed	East and west side yards 5 ft to 2 ft, new single-family dwelling
V-20-081	Jul 2020	78 Little St SE	Approved	Front, east, half-depth and rear yard setbacks reduced
V-19-110	Apr 2019	179 South Ave SE	Approved w/ cond.	East and west side yards 5 ft to 2.5 ft
V-19-109	Apr 2019	161 Little St SE (half)	Approved w/ cond.	—
V-18-387	Dec 2018	166 South Ave SE	Approved w/ cond.	Side yards to 2'6"; accessory structure floor area 36%; rear coverage 36%

Two ended in finished houses. 78 Little St SE received its variance in 2020 and pulled a new-construction permit in 2022 (BB-202200364). 166 South Ave SE received its variance in 2018 and pulled a new-construction permit in 2023 (BB-202304781).

The most relevant case is V-20-081. It sits in the same district, the same land lot, and the same R-4B-C zoning as this parcel, and the relief requested was “to reduce the front, east, half-depth and rear yard setbacks.” The half-depth yard is exactly the constraint on this corner. It was approved.

V-18-387 is worth a second look if you are considering an accessory dwelling. That applicant obtained side-yard reductions plus floor area and rear-yard coverage relief specifically in order to construct a new single-family residence and an accessory structure.

None of this guarantees anything. Every case is decided on its own facts and a buyer should assume real time and expense. But six applications in this immediate area since 2018, with approvals across the range, is a different picture than an untested path — and one you can verify without taking my word for any of it.

Case data pulled from the City of Atlanta Accela portal, August 2026. Verify current status with the Office of Zoning & Development.

6. The Neighborhood

Summerhill is one of Atlanta's oldest neighborhoods, immediately south of downtown and adjacent to the former Turner Field site. Georgia Avenue, two blocks away, has become an award-winning adaptive-reuse business district.

Georgia Avenue — walking distance

- Talat Market — Thai-focused, rotating menu; among the most acclaimed restaurants in the city
- Little Bear — chef-driven neighborhood restaurant
- Halfway Crooks — brewery and beer garden
- Wood's Chapel BBQ — opened 2019, named for one of the first churches to serve Summerhill after the Civil War
- Southern National — chef-driven dining

Schools — Atlanta Public Schools

- Elementary: Parkside Elementary — serves Summerhill, Grant Park, Ormewood Park, Boulevard Heights, Cabbagetown
- Middle: Martin Luther King Jr. Middle School
- High: Maynard H. Jackson High School

Attendance zones change. Verify current zoning at maps.apsk12.org.

Development context

- Kaiser Permanente purchased approximately 7 acres near the former Turner Field site (January 2026)
- Georgia State University and Center Parc Stadium anchor ongoing mixed-use redevelopment
- Peoplestown flood-mitigation greenspace and stormwater infrastructure under construction nearby
- Mercedes-Benz Stadium hosts global events, including World Cup matches

Proposed indoor track and field facility

The Atlanta Track Club has proposed a 175,000 SF indoor track and field facility adjacent to Cheney Stadium in Summerhill — which would be Georgia's first — with an estimated $100M capital raise. Plans as presented include a hydraulic oval, a healthcare clinic, a STEM center, and community meeting space. The Atlanta Public Schools Board of Education is expected to consider the proposal in August 2026.

This project is proposed and not approved. Included as context, not certainty.

PENDING — Verified point-to-point distances: Georgia Ave, The Beacon, Beltline access, Grant Park, Center Parc Stadium, nearest MARTA.

7. Valuation

Asking price: $649,000 — both parcels, one closing.

Improved comparables, 18 months

- Median closed sale: $601,000
- Mean closed sale: $621,361

Land comparables — county neighborhood code 14275

- Fraser St SE — 5,920 SF, sold October 2025, $440,000 → $74.32/SF
- 80 Little St SE — 1,040 SF, sold May 2025, $75,000 → $72.12/SF
- Applied to 3,016 SF: approximately $217,000 – $224,000 indicated

These comps reflect qualified sales in the same county neighborhood code. They do not adjust for the corner-lot setback constraint in Section 4. Buyers should weigh that constraint in their own valuation.

Indicated combined value

Source	Parcel	Value
Fulton County 2025 assessment (FMV)	214 South Ave SE	$481,700
Fulton County 2024 assessment (FMV)	214 South Ave SE	$496,000
Qualified land comps, code 14275	0 South Ave SE	$217,000 – $224,000
Indicated combined	Both parcels	$698,000 – $706,000

The asking price reflects a discount to indicated value in exchange for a clean, as-is, single-closing transaction.

Upper-end reference

218 South Ave SE — 2,668 SF, 4 BR / 4 BA with garage and major upgrades, on a 7,688 SF lot — sold for $825,000 on August 21, 2025. Larger in both structure and land; a ceiling reference, not a direct comparable.

Market color

Two newly built homes across the street are currently offered in the $800,000–$900,000 range. Those are asking prices, not closed sales. The valuation above uses qualified sold data only.

8. Tax Profile

Georgia taxes property at 40% of fair market value. Following a sale the county typically resets fair market value to the purchase price for the following tax year, so a buyer's bill is based on what they pay, not on the seller's prior assessment.

Sale price	Taxable (40%)	Est. annual — investment	Est. annual — owner-occupied
$550,000	$220,000	~$8,903	~$7,600
$600,000	$240,000	~$9,713	~$8,400
$649,000	$259,600	~$10,506	~$9,180
$700,000	$280,000	~$11,332	~$9,900

$750,000	$300,000	~$12,141	~$10,600
-----------	-----------	-----------	-----------

Owner-occupied estimates assume standard homestead exemptions, including the Atlanta Public Schools exemption; these must be applied for with Fulton County by April 1 and are not automatic. Figures use approximately 40.47 mills combined; 2026 rates are set later in the year. A 2026 assessment appeal is pending on the basis of the disclosed deferred maintenance. Verify with the Fulton County Board of Assessors.

9. The Income Option

Optional. The property delivers vacant and a buyer is free to occupy it, rent it whole, or redevelop. This section is included because the model is documented and transfers with the house.

Current room schedule

Room	Bath	Monthly rate
Master bedroom	Private	$1,200
Room 2	Shared	$850
Room 3	Shared	$850
Total at current asking rates		$2,900

Occupancy

The house has operated at full occupancy. The most recent stabilized configuration ran at $1,100 + $850 + $850; the $1,100 was a legacy rate on the master and current asking is $1,200.

Rooms are let individually under separate written agreements. Tenancies typically run from a few months to a year, tracking hospital rotation blocks, with incoming tenants frequently overlapping departing ones.

A redacted rent roll showing room, rate, and tenancy period accompanies this packet. Tenant identities are withheld; unredacted agreements can be made available in diligence.

How rooms get filled

- Tenants are sourced through RotatingRoom, a platform for medium-term room rentals, supplemented by referral from departing tenants
- The tenant base is residents, fellows, and healthcare professionals on hospital rotations — Grady, Emory, and Piedmont are all within a short commute
- Rotations run in fixed blocks, producing a steady supply of people who need a clean, quiet room for a defined period and who leave on schedule
- Departing tenants routinely show the house to incoming ones, which keeps turnover cost near zero
- Rooms have been priced below market deliberately, for occupancy stability. Rates can be adjusted
- This is long-term and medium-term room rental. The property is not operated as a short-term rental

All current agreements expire August 25, 2026. The property is delivered vacant at closing. Nothing is inherited and no tenant has a right to remain.

10. How to Make an Offer

- Both parcels convey together and must close as one transaction
 - Offers accepted by email or through the form at www.214southave.com; no listing agent involved
 - Proof of funds or lender pre-approval requested to confirm a showing, and required with any offer
 - Contracts handled through seller's closing attorney
 - Buyer representation welcome
 - Showings by appointment only
 - Seller is completing a 1031 exchange — no credits or payments to buyer can be structured
 - Seller will remove carpet prior to closing at buyer's request, at no cost
 - Seller can accommodate an expedited closing, including for buyers in a 1031 identification window
